Beyond The Frontier
New Gazette Serial

"Beyond the Frontier," the new serial by Randall Parrish, which will soon be published in the columns of the Gazette, is one of the most striking novels which has been offered to subscribers for some time. It is a tale of the early days of the middle west, when the untamed explorer, La Salle, and his faithful friend, Tony, were blazing the way for civilization, and the golden days of France, when the few lone blockhouses in the Indian country.

Most of the action of the story takes place on the long trail from old Quebec to Fort Snodgrass, a trail which is the heart of the story. The story is a tale of the early days of the middle west, when the untamed explorer, La Salle, and his faithful friend, Tony, were blazing the way for civilization, and the golden days of France, when the few lone blockhouses in the Indian country.

Chinese Postal Service.

Originally started by Sir Robert Hart as the customs postal service, the Chinese postal service has grown to big proportions. The Chinese are great letter writers, and something over 350,000,000 letters were carried by the Chinese posts in one year. It is the most extensive and the cheapest postal system in the world. The Chinese post will carry a letter to any part of China for about a cent and a half, whether it is sent by rail, or horse, or foot-courier.

STATE COUNCIL IS NOW ON RECORD AS TO SIZE OF PERCH

After investigating the application of Green Bay fishermen to be allowed to catch perch seven inches in length, the state council of defense adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas the law prohibiting the catch of seven inch perch will deprive the people of the state of an important source of food which becomes doubly important on account of the scarcity of meat, and the inauguration of the meatless day, and

"Whereas it has been shown that seven inch perch caught in Green Bay are fully matured and attained its full growth,

"Be it resolved, that the state council of defense strongly urge that the conservation commission permit the catching of seven inch perch, provided these fish are sold at a reasonable price and consumed within the borders of the state of Wisconsin.

This question was argued before the last legislative session, and the members finally voting to fix the minimum length of perch at eight inches.

Goldbeating an Ancient Art.

Goldbeating as an industry is as ancient and honorable as it is fascinating and wonderful. It is practiced in almost exactly the same way today as it was by goldworkers of ancient Greece and still more ancient Egypt. Incredible as it may seem, there are well-authenticated instances of gold having been beaten down to more than the three hundred thousandth part of an inch in thickness or thinness.

Announcing a New System of Selling Groceries

I wish to announce that on Monday, October 1st, 1917, I will adopt a new system of selling my groceries. Under this system I will sell my goods at reduced prices and at the same time the quality of goods, courteous treatment and honest business dealings will be maintained, the same as has been my policy in the past.

Reduction In Prices

Prices have been reduced generally throughout the store. These prices will be net cash at the store.

I Deliver

I will continue to deliver. Each delivery will carry the small charge of five cents (5¢), regardless of the cost or size of the same. This system gives all customers an opportunity to save the expense of this service, if they so prefer, as it is to their financial interest to do so.

A Fair System For Fair People

This system should appeal to all fair minded people who will take time and interest in the problem of reducing their grocery bill at this time of HIGH COST OF LIVING. Customers of every grocery store must know that they are paying for the cost of delivering and extension of credit whether they take advantage of the service or not. Under this Square Deal System they pay for what service they get and if they do not wish their orders delivered or credit extended, they need not pay for this service, or in other words, they are not paying for other people's benefits.

As to charging for delivery service, this special fee will be more than made up by our reduced prices, if the housewife will give a little more time and attention to her wants and order a larger supply.

Everyone knowing themselves indebted to me are requested to call and settle their accounts immediately.

At this time I wish to extend my sincere thanks to all of my patrons for the business accorded me in the past and hope that they will appreciate and take advantage of this new Square Deal System.

CHICAGO CUBS MUST HAVE NEW PLAYERS

New York, Sept. 28.—A return to the old West side grounds, where the Cubs of old used to shatter every thing that stood in their way, and a policy of expenditures that will rival even the loose purse strings of Charles Comiskey, presages a boom in National league stock in Chicago. Charles Weeghman, admitted in a recent fashion a short time ago that directors controlling the finances of the Cubs have agreed to allow Fred Mitchell and Weeghman to spend $250,000 this winter on bad players. Adding major purchases that are certain to be made to the host of bright youngsters about to make their debuts with the Cubs the Chicagoans will have to show something next summer to convince the fans there is any real life in the National league at Chicago. Fred Mitchell faced a task for a Hercules when he took up the management of the Cubs last spring. He had a disgruntled team, mostly made up of hasbeens and never-wases. But he shot them into the fray with such excellent results that he had his team going fine and fighting hard for first division honors for a long time. His method handling men made a new player of Leslie Mann. Carter, Adridge and a number of other pitchers showed flashes of stuff at times that predicted success for them. Mitchell always has been credited with phenomenal success in handling his pitchers and there is no reason to doubt his reputation from the results he has obtained with the material in Chicago. He has a number of promising recruit boxmen on the way to join the Cub raiders.

MORRIS MILLER

Let us hope the Giants will not pull a stunt like this in the world's series, where everything should be according to Hoyle. In one of the games with the Phillies recently, Baker was on second and Bancroft on first. Stock raised a fly to Burns, which the New York outfielder missed or tripped. Burns recovered the ball and threw to Fletcher, who tagged Baker before he could get back to second. And then Fletcher, instead of stopping on second to force Bancroft, passed the ball to Holke, who threw it to Herzog, the latter chasing Burns back to first, tagging him. Smart players like Herzog and Fletcher were not the only ones in the bonus, for Empire Kitty Bransfield didn't know whether Bancroft was on first or had to go to first. Higher about it, she asked who hit the ball to Burns, made her in safety and stood there, as he had a right to do, though it seemed to Bransfield an idea that the pitcher had "forced" him back to the home plate.

Grover Alexander's feat of pitching and winning a double-header for the Phillies over Brooklyn a while ago was not his first feat of the kind. It will be remembered that on September 23 last year he pitched and won both games of a double-header with Cincinnati. He beat the Reds 7 to 1 in the first game and 4 to 0 in the second. This last time his first game was a shutout, but he was pretty freely hit in the second contest.

Frank Walker of Springfield, leading hitter of the Central league, who has much to learn about leading, will be tried in the Detroit outfield. This player has a chance to land a job. Detroit has used a utility outfielder during part of this season and will do so next year, even if Harry Heilmann does not leave for the front. Heilmann is utility first sacker and right fielder. He has played on first, left and on. But Heilmann may not be with the Tigers next year, which will leave a huge opening.

Ohio is to be the scene of a major league series this fall, the contenders being the Cleveland Indians and the Cincinnati Reds. Such a series was played by the clubs representing these two cities several years ago, but bad weather spoiled it. This season there seems to be some real interest in the idea and more will be added if the Reds are able to finish the season in the first division. Eddie Roush, National league star, is with the Reds, while Tris Speaker is with the Indians.

dians, so the showing of these two players would be an interesting side feature of the series. Garry Herriman insists that such a series will draw big crowds at Redland field.

Honus Wagner has already announced his retirement from baseball next year. Indicating that the Dutchman will report a little earlier than he did last year. Honus may not swing on the ball with his old-time vigor, but he will not be through until the turn of the century. He is expected to refuse to respond to the magic of his name.

Connie Walsh, who used to be a pitcher in the Three-I league and all ways could be depended on, dropped out of the game this year, but a certain club in the league finding itself in need of a twirler wired him: "Are you in condition?" "Never better in my life," was Walsh's answer. A message followed asking him to report at once. Walsh did not obey. A few days later he was wired again: "You said you are in condition; why don't you report?" This was Walsh's answer: "I am in condition, but the league is not." Three days later the Three-I club abandoned. Connie must have had inside information.

Manager Lee Fohl believes he would have won the pennant with his Cleveland Indians if he had had another good right-hander. He told President Dunn that back in August.

GROH DISPUTES WITH ZIMMERMAN TITLE OF GAME'S BEST THIRD SACKER

Heinie Zimmerman (above) and Heinie Groh.

When the critics select the king of the National league's third basemen, Heinie Groh of the Reds is sure to receive much consideration. The diminutive infielder, whose playing has been an important factor in the success of Mathewson's club, may not be the greatest third baseman in the pastime, but he is one of the best. Recently many experts have compared his work with that of Heinie Zimmerman, who this season is conceded to be the best of all third sacker.

and the club owner at once went out to get that right-hander. Dunn had a deal practically closed for Dave Davenport of the Browns, it is said, but about that time Long Dave pitched a good game or two for Fielder Jones and Jones refused to let him go.

The Toronto team has won the International league pennant after a remarkable fight, in which it came through in spite of injuries and other handicaps. And the manager of the champions of the Barrow circuit is no less a person than our old friend Napoleon Lajoie, who, in his first year, in strange company, has been the driving force and inspiration of his Maple Leafs. Not only has Nap been a great manager, but he is one of the leading hitters of the International circuit. And yet they told us a year ago that he was done, that he had lost his spirit as well as his physical qualifications. Give heed, therefore, to those who always believed in Lajoie. List while they rise up to tell you that what he has done with Toronto he might have done with Cleveland. Lajoie has been given the co-operation and support without which no manager can make a showing. We will hear a lot from the old Lajoie boosters this winter—and a lot of us will have to admit the truth of much that will be told.

When Stan Coveleskie won for Cleveland from Detroit recently a score of 1 to 0 it was the third time this season. He beat the Tigers on May 29 with only a single score and repeated the performance on August 31. Besides these three 1 to 0 games he had won two others from the Tigers this year.

George Sizer of the Browns, after playing most of the season with a bum heel, now finds himself further handicapped with a lame wrist. It has bothered him much in making throws, but even more so in handling his bat. Unless it shows improvement he may have to quit the game for the rest of the year.

FREIGHT CARS PILE UP IN A DAMAGING WRECK

Rhineland, Wis., Sept. 28.—Eleven freight cars heavily laden with steel, jumped the track nineteen miles east of here Wednesday night and caused one of the worst wrecks known here on the Soo road. The damage is estimated to be $3,000 or upwards. One-half mile of track was torn up and several telegraph poles were demolished. Passengers on trains bound either way had to be transferred at the scene of the wreck until the line had been made clear.

NEW EVIDENCE CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF TRIAL

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 28.—Discovery of new evidence will cause a postponement for two weeks of the court martial trial of the 156 negroes held in the stockade at Fort Bliss for participation in the riots at Houston. It was announced today. The trial was scheduled to start next Monday. Colonel J. A. Hull and Major D. V. Stuten, judge advocates, left here today for Columbus, N. CARDINALS TO PLAY AT BELOIT, SATURDAY

First Game of Series Will be Played at the Beloit Fair Grounds on Saturday.

Many baseball fans are planning to make the trip to Beloit Saturday to witness the first game of the series between the Beloit Fairies and the Janesville Cardinals. The Cardinals will be represented by a strong line-up and should give the Fairies a game which will be well worth watching.

It has been decided to hold the first game at the Beloit fair grounds rather than at the Fairies' Park. Rain caused the postponement of the fair until Saturday so that the game will serve as an added attraction in addition to the horse races which will be held. The second game will be played at the Fairies' Park on Sunday as was announced before.

Manager Langdon has secured the services of a fast team of men and is out to win the first game in order to get the jump on the series. The first game will undoubtedly draw an unusually large crowd due to the fact that the game is to be played at the Beloit fair grounds.

BARKEEPER FILCHED ON GOLD BRICK GAME

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 28.—Steve Nowak, saloonkeeper at 843 Ninth avenue, is the latest victim of the gold brick swindle, his contribution having been $500 in cold cash. The "frame-up" was engineered by three men, one representing himself to be a miner, another a State street jeweler and the third a businessman, all well dressed. Greenberg, who acted as the decoy miner, placed on the bar a tin box about the size of a brick and stated that it contained pure Texas gold that he had brought back with him from the mine. "I will sell it for $2,200," said the miner. "I would like to purchase it," said the so-called State street jeweler, "but I have not that much money." This ends the first part of the drama. Exit all the confidence men. Nowak begins to dream. Later all three returned to the saloon and brought with them the gold brick. Nowak began to talk mining again. "I will sell the gold for $2,000 today," said the little miner. "All I have is $2,000," said the State street jeweler. "If you will put in the other $900," he said to Nowak, "we can buy it." End of Act 2. Exit all three. (The plot thickens.)

Saturday the three came back and in a few minutes the deal was put over. Nowak gave them the $900 and the box of supposed gold was turned over to him to keep with the understanding that the miner keep the key until he could take a portion of the gold and sell it. "I will take this much and have it melted," said the State street jeweler, and he took a handful of the contents of the box.

CAMP GRANT FIRE SYSTEM EFFICIENT

Camp Grant, Ill., Sept. 28.—Camp Grant, soon to be a city of 40,000 patriotic souls, will be fire-proofed to a degree of which any up-to-date municipality might be proud. A fire prevention system of the most scientific and modern design has been worked out which will condemn any incipient blaze to an instant "barage" of water and quenching chemicals. The big camp is protected from fire throughout and on every flank. The campmen fire department moved into its central fire station today and Camp Grant rejoiced in the long step toward complete efficiency. The central fire station is located in front of the post office, directly in the middle of the campment. No. 1 station is at the base hospital near the south end of the reservation and No. 3 is in the hospital section at the north end. Every station is equipped with two motor pumps, each carrying 500 feet of hose, a 24-foot ladder, a "forry" pump, a chemical tank, hose, buckets, lanterns, smoke helmets, and a complete paraphernalia. All are mounted on motor cars. Then there are twenty-nine hose carts about camp, each carrying 500 feet of hose. There are eight regular firemen in each station, all selected men who were fire fighters at home. Thus experienced men are at the helm looking for trouble.

The personnel at each station consists of one first class sergeant, one sergeant, two first class privates and four privates. In addition, every officer and man in the camp is being trained as a fire fighter as well as a "Boche getter." One of the first things taught the selected men is the location of the fire apparatus in each building, and how to use the same.

Pave Not Your Parlor With It. The most expensive wood in the world is said to be the boxwood imported from Turkey for the use of engravers. The cost ranges from four cents a square inch up to ten cents a square inch for the best grade. An ordinary wagon load of boxwood would cost many thousands of dollars. A string of beads made of it would be a fairly expensive piece of jewelry.

senator is receiving more attention from the press and the public at the present time than Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin. Hardly a public gathering, political or otherwise, but passing resolutions urging the United States senate to purge itself of his presence. Theodore Roosevelt, who is touring the middle west, has words that are carefully selected and most pungent when he refers to him. The gathering of lawyers at Atlantic City, also takes occasion to make more than passing mention of the danger of his presence in the senate, and so it goes.The question, can Robert M. La Follette be expelled from the United States senate? is answered by the Chicago Herald, which says:
"The Minnesota public safety commission has requested that he be removed from office because of the disloyalty of his address last Thursday at St. Paul. Colonel Roosevelt showed a feeling akin to that expressed by the Minnesota senate when this week at Kansas City he said:
"If I were this minute a member of the United States senate I would be ashamed to sit in that body until I found some method of depriving Senator La Follette of his seat in that chamber, which he now disgraces. Loyal groups in Wisconsin have filled out the chorus calling for the senator's resignation."In the civil case of Jesse D.
Bright, three elected senators by Indiana, Roosevelt Johnson suggests a precedent. In the New York Sun he points out that Bright voted with the South on all questions affecting slavery. During March, 1861, he wrote to "His Excellency, Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate states," introducing a Texan who wished to dispose of a new fire arm.Bright was charged with disloyalty
the following December by Senator Morton Smith Wilkinson of Minnosota. He explained that he had no idea that war would be declared at the time he wrote the letter and that he was merely attempting to rid himself of a troublesome visitor. The judiciary committee first supported the Indiana senator. Still the fight was kept up by Wilkinson and by Charles Sumner. On Feb. 5, 1862, Bright was declared expelled by a vote of 32 to 14.Expulsion technically is simple.
The constitution, silent to offenses,
merely requires a two-thirds majority.
Each house is the judge of the qualifications of its members. Where clear proof of treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors is at hand, the house may impeach. Impeachment may follow the violation of any rule set up by two-thirds of the members of either branch. The senate can get rid of La Follette whenever the legal authority wills it.LIBERTY BONDS ATTRACTIVE.In floating the new Liberty loan, much will of course be said about the patriotic duty of subscribing. This is all true and good stuff. Yet many of our shrewdest bankers are urging their clients to buy Liberty bonds, as the very best investment in the market.It's certainly a phenomenal thing that the bonds of the United States government, the best security on earth, should sell to not four per cent.
Never before has such a thing happened. There have been many times when two per cent bonds could be placed at par by the government.
The United States Panama canal bonds sold a few months ago, before the war broke out, for a premium of two to four per cent. And they pay only three per cent.Conditions in the security market
now are wholly abnormal, and can't last for long. European investment has been unloading on us their American securities, as they wanted
the money to put into their own government issues. Our people have had to dig money out of all kinds of investments to buy back our securities held abroad. This has reduced the price on everything, including government bonds.In the face of this selling movement, the first Liberty loan has sold for but a few cents under par. It seems as certain as anything in business can be, that after the war these bonds will go up. If under normal conditions, a three per cent bond sells at 102 to 104, a four per cent bond should bring a good deal more than that.There then is a chance to get interest that is higher than savings banks used to pay, and in the same time a practical certainty, that the value of the principal will advance within a very few years. Usually when you speculate, you must take risks. Here is a chance to get the advantage of speculation without taking any risk. It should not be necessary to work the patriotic movement
so hard to sell these bonds.THE CONSUMER.As usual the poor consumer pays the freight in every case. Government control of the food supply of this country is due in theory but when it comes down to practice it is somewhat lacking. Up in the northern woods where live some of the remnants of the Indian tribes, the late summer months are a bonanza of the squaw. They pick berries which they sell at a ready market and are usually satisfied with the price paid. This year they made a sudden and radical rise in price. "Berries scarce?" was the question. "No, heap plenty this year,"
was the answer. "Why price bigger then?" "Hub, great war in Europe," came back the reply. So the consumer pays the freight. Right here at home we have an increased price in bulk to face after what has been one of the greatest feed producing years that has been known for many years. "Is feed scarce?" "No, heap plenty this year." "Then why the rise in price?" "Great war in Europe!"
The consumer pays the bill. It is re-freshing to learn that the federal authorities are going to investigate
this raise in price from the Chicago angle so some time we may expect a drop to come. Meanwhile the consumer pays the freight.After meeting the man with a cousin in the war department who has
it direct from headquarters that already there are 1,000,000 American soldiers in France, you meet the fellow whose wife's brother is in the navy, and also has it direct that there aren't 150,000 there yet.The American poets have set out to raise $100,000 for the ambulance corps. The poets will contribute their limit of purse, but in view of the permanent condition of depression in the poetry market, the manual laborers would probably be able to contribute more generously.Someone asks what should be done about the American air fleet, as Bill Hofenzollern has personally assured chute jumpers.It is claimed that the Germans must feel sick that they took the Belgian ship cut to Paris, with all the consequences involved, but then it gave them the satisfaction of busting international law.The Swedish position in the matter

pears to be that they didn't know

mentations in Germany, for the simple reason that the German people aren't permitted to know that fact.The I. W. W. may not have objected to getting free board in jail, but the fact that jail is a place where people have to work seems to have daunted

OPEN ON OCTOBER 2DIRECTOR C. F. HILL ANNOUNCES COURSES AND STAFF OF TEACHERS FOR EVENING
SCHOOL CLASSES.TO OFFER NEW COURSESSeveral New Courses Will be Opened in the Science as Well as the Mechanical Departments.Regular sessions of the evening school classes under the direction of the convocation school will open at the high school and the Lincoln school buildings on October 2. All plans for the opening have been completed by Director C. F. Hill. The staff of teachers who will conduct the work has been chosen and the courses which will be offered outlined.This year a more extended number of courses will be offered to the people from which they can make their choice. The number of subjects in the commercial department has been extended. New courses in the science department have also been prepared and will be offered to the people.The needle work and mechanical departments are expected to have the largest enrollment as in previous years. An added force of teachers this year will be able to take care of any increase in numbers which is expected.The school is free to anyone in the city who is not attending a six hour
a day school. With such an exceptionally strong teaching force as has been gathered it is expected that the enrollment will be much larger than previously. Nearly one hundred and fifty men and women are now enrolled in the salesmanship class which is held every Wednesday in the high school building. A similar class in advertising is on the road to being organized and another large attendance is anticipated.The evening school holds its sessions twice a week, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7:30 to 9:30.
Part of the classes are held in the Lincoln school building and the others in the high school building. The only payment which is necessary is that of a deposit of two dollars which is used as a guarantee of good faith in attendance. The money is returned at the end of the work if a student attends throughout the course. Absence for sickness will be excused.In the commercial department courses in shorthand and typewriting in addition to bookkeeping will be offered. W. W. Dale and D. D. Manross will have charge of the instruction in shorthand and typewriting,
while Miss Nell Roberty and E. S.
Solte will take care of the bookkeeping classes.As an added feature during the war
this department will teach telegraph pay. A class will be organized and the work studied. At the present time the United States is in pressing need of a large number of operators.
The course will be open to either men or women and will be under the direction of C. F. Hill. One class in telegraphy is now being held each afternoon at three o'clock for one hour sessions. This class is not as yet entirely filled and the desire of Mr.
Hill to have more women join the class at this time.In the science department J. Arbuthnot will offer courses in electricity, chemistry and mechanics and heat. If more than one of these classes is filled it will be necessary to arrange evenings for both classes.
The class in chemistry is expected to be filled due to the intense interest in chemical products at this time when all war munitions are made as the result of a chemical process.Under the subject of mechanics and heat the study of the principles of the work will be taken up. Liquids, their action and principles, pumps and their action; water pressure and other matters relating to liquids will also be studied. It is the desire of Mr.
Arbuthnot that these courses be investigated by the people at least to see the benefit which can be obtained from them. Last year a class in chemistry was organized and after the season had become so great for it. The class was a great success with the result that the additional classes were organized this year. The work has been arranged for the best results to the person taking the course. It will cover fundamental principles which the students desire to master.The shorthand classes will meet from 7:30 to 8:30, followed by the typewriting and penmanship classes from then until 9:30. If more than ten wish both typewriting and penmanship there will be a typewriting class from 7:30 to 8:30.The enrollment in the sewing classes will be for either ten or twenty weeks depending upon the course which those entering wish to take.
Enrollment in the millinery class will be for the length of time required by the student to complete the course.
The class in physical education will be from 8:30 to 9:30.Following are the courses of study:
Commercial Department.
Spencerian Shorthand and Penmanship—W. W. Dale.
Typewriting—D. D. Manross.
Beginning Bookkeeping and Typewriting—Nell Roberty.

SEND THIRTY MEN TO CAMP GRANT OCT. 3

QUOTA IS DECREASED

Men Will Assemble at Court House Tuesday Afternoon and Leave for Camp Next Morning.

In answer to orders received from the government late last night, twenty men and five alternates have been selected by the local exemption board to go to Camp Grant, on October 3, as the next contingent from the first district of Rock county. They have been sent cards ordering their mobilization at the court house at four o'clock on the afternoon of the second, next Tuesday.

Until the orders were received last night, it had been supposed that the next quota would be made up of forty per cent of the first draft or sixty men. When the schedule for entrainment of men to the training camps was made out by Provost Marshal General Crowder, the men were to go in four groups, the first of five per cent, the second, which left the nineteenth, of forty per cent, the third, of forty per cent, to leave the first week in October, and the remaining fifteen per cent to go into training as soon thereafter as possible.

Inability to prepare the camp for the full forty per cent, however, has brought about a one-half reduction, and consequently about thirty men will leave next week. Camp Custer, at Battle Creek, Michigan, which takes the men from Milwaukee and the eastern part of the state, is in a better condition to receive any more men, and the whole next assignment is being held up until further notice.

Just when the next lot will leave this district for Camp Grant is not known at this time, but it is supposed that they will be sent as soon as accommodations at the cantonment can be made.

The men who mobilize next Tuesday will gather at the court house for further instruction. Those who desire and those who live more than one hour's ride from the court house will be given lodging and meals until their departure, which will probably be the next morning, though publication of any movements to the camp is rigorously censored.

Each has received a green card giving notice of his selection for military service, and early this afternoon orders to mobilize were sent out from the offices of the local draft board. The card given full information on these cards as to what to bring with them and will gather at the court house, prepared for taking up active service with the national army.

Among the thirty selected for this assignment are many whose order of call was low; these in most cases were men who appealed to the district for exemption, whose cases were not decided until recently. In the lot there are about ten farm hands, though there are no men who own farms and have the means and interest in getting in the crops on their shoulders alone. There are also six of the number who are married, but in no case is there a man who has wife and children dependent upon him. A few of the cases are those of men who married after May 18th, upon which date the federal ruling that all later marriages would not furnish grounds for exemption, was made effective. Another is a widower, but does not support his child, while another man's wife lives with relatives in "the old country."

The following men are ordered to report at four o'clock on the afternoon of October second at the court house. The order of call is given first, followed by the man's name, address and serial number.

SEVEN SENTENCED FOR DRUNKENNESS

Judge Maxfield Hands out Sentences For Men Arrested on Charge of Drunkenness.

Seven men charged with drunkenness appeared before Judge Maxfield this morning in the municipal court. In addition to these seven men one Hielot youth was tried and found guilty on a charge of petty larceny. The police had a busy time Thursday gathering the seven who appeared on the drunkenness charge. Only two of the men were from this city the others being transients on their way through. Tom Hiefort made another appearance before the judge and plead no guilt. After a conference with District Attorney Dimwiddle he decided to change the plea of guilty. He was given a sentence of ten days flat and $25 and costs or thirty days additional. William Conway, a resident of Clinton Junction came to the city to spend a few days and spent too much of his time in the saloons. He was arrested Thursday night and given a fine of $15 and costs this morning or else twenty days in jail.

After serving a laborer on his way to the south also stopped long enough to be arrested. He had been spending the summer at Eagle Lake, Minnesota and came here for a celebration. He was given a sentence of ten days flat and $25 and costs or thirty days additional.

John Rogot, of Broadhead, plead guilty to being intoxicated and was sentenced to ten days flat and $25 and costs or thirty days additional. Following his appearance before the judge, O. Daniels of Hielot took the stand and entered a plea of guilty. Daniels is a hard working man and has a wife and family to support. He was given $10 and costs or the alternative of fifteen days.

Martin Daby was returning from Camp Grant to his home in Oregon when he was picked up by the police. His two sons are in training at the camp and he paid them a visit. In his case Judge Maxfield handed out a light fine of $5 and costs or seven days.

The case of Thomas Hardyman, aged twenty, of Beloit was then brought up for trial. Hardyman was arrested on a charge of stealing $80 worth of horse blankets from a stable owner. Crank of Beloit, who was with the racing horses. Hardyman entered a plea of not guilty and was put under $300 bail. Shortly after he decided to change his plea and the case was further investigated and it was found that the total amount of goods taken was under the value of $20.

He was then brought before the judge on a charge of petty larceny. He was given ninety days in the county jail.

Frank Lamphere, day captain of the Beloit police force was in court to give evidence in the case as was Mr. Pearce, the owner of the stolen blankets. The young man was accused of stealing two blankets, valued at $12 and $7 and one cheap chain. He was taken to Beloit to be put to work under the commitment law in one of the shops to keep him away from the race tracks which caused his downfall.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Sept. 28.—Sam Wener sued Elmer Fish for the price of two cases of eggs and Justice Williams has pronounced a decision in four days. Fish claims to have candied the eggs before they were sold to Wener. They were shipped to Milwaukee where they arrived at their destination. A few hours later and their expressive aroma drove the whole family out of doors. They were sent back, greatly to the grief of the express people, and it was found necessary to destroy them. The question is how did the perfectly good eggs spoil in a few hours or did someone switch the cases on Wener. E. Johnson appeared for Fish and E. T. Cass representing Wener.

The funeral of Robert M. Marlett was held from the home on Franklin street last Sunday. He was a native of Canada and came to Wisconsin seventeen years ago. A wife, two sons and a daughter survive him. He was 84 years, 5 months and 9 days of age. The girls' Delphic society of the high school have elected new officers for this year: president, Eva Godfrey; vice president, Dorothy Cushman; secretary, Dorothy Hull; treasurer, Luella Schoeche; sergeant at arms, Edith Anderson and Doris Miller. Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Roe left yesterday to make their home in Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Lewis of Madison visited Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cox this week.

W. J. Lean of Lime Springs is here visiting his brother, Thomas Lean.

The Misses Christensen, Newell and Kendall entertained the ladies of the high school faculty one evening the first of the week.

Miss Winifred Cahill was absent from her duties at the high school a part of this week on account of the death of a cousin, Miss Alice Larkin has been taking her place.

A black and shining object glittered in the muddy, crowded street.

It was a pin!

"See a pin and pick it up, all the day you'll have good luck!" muttered Oswald Butterbread jonesomely to himself.

As he bent down to pick it up, his eyeglasses fell off and broke in ten thousand pieces.

"Oh, dear!" happily murmured Oswald.

While he was rescuing the old rims from the thousands of pieces, his hat fell off, and rolled under a passing auto and was smashed to a wafer.

"Oh, dear, dear!" sighed Oswald.

In making a futile dash for the hat, a horse kicked him on the left leg and threw him into the track of a motor truck.

When Oswald Butterbread came to in the nice little white cot and had a small conversation with the nurse, he was heard to exclaim joyfully, "Only one leg busted, four ribs cracked and a bump on my bean—Gee, I'm a lucky guy!"

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Jackie Saunders.

Jackie Saunders is the mother of a baby star, it is announced from the Los Angeles studios, where the child was born. Jackie, in private life, is Mrs. E. D. Horkheimer. Mother and daughter are doing well, and the star will be seen soon in a new photoplay, it is promised.

Miss Saunders, who has been popular with film fans for three years, has had an interesting career. She was a model before getting into pictures. She appeared on many magazine covers done by such famous artists as Harrison Fisher, Howard Chandler Christy and Clarence Lumsden. As a matter of fact it was due to a suggestion from the latter that she first thought of her photographic possibilities.

Mme. Petrova quit the company with which she has been connected, without protest on their part, and formed a movie producing company of her own because she thought she knew more about how her pictures should be made than the director who was making them.

"In my own company," she says, "I am to write my own stories, direct myself, write the titles and work before the camera for just six hours a day."

One reason she is sure she can cut her working day to six hours is that she never rehearses her scenes.

"For others, perhaps, a rehearsal is all right," she says, "A thing must be spontaneous with me or it is good for nothing."

As for the rest,

"I shall have director to plan the pictures, of course," says Petrova, "but I shall not have directed any picture since I find one who knows more than I do. I have been fourteen years learning what I know, and why should I allow myself to be dictated by a young man who was setting up scenery on some stage or cutting out coats and waistcoats?"

All sorts of weird persons fancy they are directors. And the subtitles—

"I find fault with those atrocious, absolutely bromidic, thoroughly detestable titles with which most title writers spoil a picture."

In one picture the title "Her insistence on having me refer constantly to my 'limousine.' I pleaded and threatened in vain. He could see no difference between 'limousine' and 'closed car.'"

Petrova's most earnest admirers are those who recognize a certain real distinction in her impersonations.

It is that rare distinction which explains her steadily growing popularity.

It is quite probable that this distinction will be heightened now that Petrova's pictures are to be directed by Petrova.

Mildred Keats is heralded as a "different kind of star." She'll make her debut in "Queen of the Sea," the new submarine picture starring Annette Kellermann.

The motion picture rights of "Amidst the Clouds Line Alley," by Belle K. Maniates, have been secured by Mary Pickford and the film will be exhibited in the near future.

HOME COMING HELD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The annual home coming of the Baptist society is looked forward to throughout the city. The tables were set for the evening of the 27th. With music, flowers and a bountiful supper this event was celebrated at the Baptist church last evening.

Promptly at 6:45 the members of the church and their families marched in from the auditorium and took their places at the long tables, spread in the church parlors, where covers were laid for three hundred.

The tables were beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and vases of dahlias and other fall flowers. The supper was furnished by the Helping Circle, Kings Daughters and the Ladies' Aid societies of the church, with Mrs. Bowerman as the head of the committee.

About thirty young ladies served as waitresses and a half dozen young men poured the coffee.

Delightful music was given during the progress of the meal by the Baptist orchestra of twelve pieces under the leadership of Prof. Thiele. Also during the evening, a number of songs were sung.

"We Came Up From Somerset," and a male quartet, consisting of Mr. Olsen, Stanley Horwood, Robert and George Conway, sang a couple of selections which were much enjoyed. Miss A. Schwartz played the piano accompaniments. The invocation was given by Rev. Pierce of Evansville. He was accompanied by his wife last evening, and Mrs. C. H. Campbell, of Evansville, were also guests of the occasion.

D. W. Hulbert, D. D., who is state superintendent of missions, was also present and gave an informal address of general missionary work. He spoke of the million dollars a year which was contributed by the church for foreign missions, which this year was to have been very large.

He said, had been greatly helped by a legacy of over $400,000 left to it during the last ten years, but there were many struggling churches and much need of ministers and aid for them.

At the annual business meeting of the society, held at the close of the supper, the pastor, Rev. Peterson, was elected moderator, and reports from all the church officials were given. J. T. Fitchett, the church clerk, reported the present membership of the church to be 539. A report of the church finances by Mr. Clinton showed that although there was a slight deficit, matters were in a very satisfactory state. He announced, however, that the coal bill would be double the ordinary amount and that coal would be delivered to them next week. An impromptu collection to pay for coal, showed that $261 had been pledged for that purpose. The benevolence treasurer, Mr. Eller, gave his report, which showed that $1346 had been pledged for that purpose during the year. A report of the trustees given by O. D. Antisdal, showed the meetings attended and work done by that organization this past year.

At the annual election the following officers were elected:

Worry is a pair of smoked glasses, through which all the world looks somber.

The sunshine is as golden as ever, and the sky as blue, but through those smoked glasses everything looks dreary. If some of you would only pocket your worries, and see what the world really is like, it is pretty certain that you would make up your mind to do without smoked glasses in the future.

ENGLAND MAY HAVE TO TAKE COLONIES OVER FROM GERMANY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, Sept. 28.—"You ask me to give you my opinion upon the question of the German colonies which we have captured during the war. I do not think that that question can be put in quite so simple a form," said Walter Long, British secretary of state for the colonies. "It really is dependent upon two totally different conditions. The first and most important is the form and character of our victory. If it is as complete as we all hope and believe it will be, then of course we can dictate our terms, and there can be no doubt, I think, in the mind of anybody what will be."

If, on the other hand, the victory were to result in an inconclusive peace, it is quite obvious that any plan for the division of the colonies would have little effect. These German possessions have been captured by British troops, many of them from our dominions and colonies."

"Take for instance Australia and the Union of South Africa. Each has been engaged for a long time to come, but in the case of each German neighbor constituted a grave menace to her security and peace, and it was to remove this menace that they determined to capture the colonies, not for the purpose of increasing their empire, but to remove a serious and equally to German East Africa—not yet fully conquered, but probably soon about to be. I am quite sure of this—that our dominions, looking at their own future security, will vehemently resist any attempt to restore German rule in those territories, at all events to the future in the future is to be compared with what German rule has been in the past."

Further, we cannot with wisdom ignore the fact that in the future the submarine and aerial powers of war, will have materially altered the situation, and we are compelled to ask ourselves what would be the opportunities of a selfish and aggressive power, animated solely by military lust, if we were to allow them to remain in every part of Africa outposts which they would assuredly make submarine and aircraft bases, and convert into strongholds from which to attack their peaceful neighbors."

"You ask me what is my view on the proposition that the Portuguese should sell their colonies in East Africa to Germany in order to recompense her for the loss of her African possessions. Well, there has, I know, been some discussion about this, and I am not inclined to favor the idea, which seems to me to favor far too much of disregarding the views of the natives, and treating them as though they were mere chattels. The British territories in Africa would still have a very troublesome neighbor. What they want is peace, in order that they may be able to develop their own resources, and that they would entertain no objection to see German colonies growing up beside them if this meant the real development of the whole country, the bettering of the condition of the natives, and African progress generally, but they know from bitter experience that it means exactly the opposite."

"In their view, which I believe to be well founded, Germany has never learned how to colonize. Her idea of foreign possession is that it is something to be exploited solely for her own immediate profit. The rights and advancement of the natives seem to mean nothing to her."

"You ask me also what of the suggestion made in the quarters of leading back to Germany her conquered colonies in consideration of her relinquishment of Alsace-Lorraine to France. My reply is that this has been suggested as a possibility only resulting from an inconclusive peace. I am not prepared to contemplate or discuss any peace of this character. We as an empire have made a great sacrifice, and are still making them. The United States has come into the war and is throwing all her great strength into the common pool. We both realize that it is not the cause of the allies is not individual advantage in territory, but the future freedom and liberty of the world, and I think it must be clear to all of us that if the German policy in the past and judging from the utterances of her leading representatives there is no prospect of a change, then the security of our countries and the peace of the world will be gravely endangered if she is allowed to return to the status quo ante bellum. A peace that will see these German possessions started on the road to progress and prosperity with a future like that of other British colonies as their goal, is the only peace which the world can contemplate with satisfaction."

MEATLESS DAY IS SUCCESS IN STATE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 28.—The meatless and wheatless days have been made a success and Wisconsin once more has broken the lead in helping Uncle Sam with the war.

This was the conclusion reached by Magnus Swenson, state food administrator, today, after he had received reports from nearly every county in the state.

The second meatless Tuesday was observed by practically every hotel and restaurant in the state and there was the same observance of the second wheatless Wednesday.

The patriotism of the state in being the first to establish these days has received the highest praise from the Washington Gov. of Mrs. Swenson's proclamation have been sent to Washington in response to a hurried call for them, and these will be sent to every state in the union. Mr. Swenson has been asked to give the other states the benefit of his experience.

To the man who has given up practically all of his time to the purely honorary position of state food administrator, the response of Wisconsin to the national appeal for food conservation is particularly pleasing.

"I am not surprised, but I am happy over the general observance of meatless and wheatless day," he said. "There will be a time when we will point with pride to this achievement of our state. It is all very hard to get at now, but some day we will have to show what Wisconsin has done. That will pay for our sacrifices."

We know that if the nation goes without meat one day in each week that we will save 2,200,000,000 pounds of meat.

"I want now to acknowledge the patriotic spirit with which the hotels and restaurants have taken upon themselves the duty of observing these days, and we know that the hotel or restaurant which served meat on Tuesday was the exception rather than the rule, and that the state. Many of them have gone to some expense, and all have made personal sacrifices. It would be a great aid to us if those who do observe the day would report violations by others. Although we have no way to count them, we know, also, that thousands of private homes have established the meatless day. It is a general impression which I find is general in some parts of the state that poultry is not included in the meats to be saved. The federal food administration is urging the eating of more poultry, but as a substitute for beef, mutton and pork on the other days of the week. If we are to observe the meatless day we must do it literally."

It's a Tragic Tale She Versifies Of Horrid Hats That Hubby Buys

(Written for the Gazette.)
There was a little man
And he bought a little hat
To take his pretty little wife.
He thought it out of sight,
Well it was a sight all right.
And he spoiled all her happy little life.
He thought himself so smart
At the chapeau buying art.
That he always picked her hats from superstition to now.

Till ashamed to show her head
In his hats the lady fled
To Dahomey where they've no hats
at all.

If your husband is like that
And should bring you home a hat,
Leave him quickly, warning take
If you don't, my little dear,
Then I very greatly fear
That the blame and hat must rest upon your head.

New York, Sept. 28.—A strolling party fifth avenue the other day to get a view of all the latest fashions new and other things of interest too, I saw a sight I sensed to be beginning of a tragedy, although perhaps you'll not agree that such a simple thing could be a terrible catastrophe—but that is what it seemed to me. Before a hat shop, very smart, whose wares with superb style within the shadow of the mart attract each female passer-by as the spider does the fly, and lets them not by till they buy, I saw a man of portly mien with ruddy face and manner keen (I judge he came from Abilene or some small city in the west), and there he stood with visage pressed against the glass.

Full well I guessed his dire intent and was distressed. I know that in the book of Fate 'twas writ his unsuspecting mate away out west right on the pate, was due to get an awful blow when she came home with face aglow and straight unwrapped her gift to show.

I knew that husband meant to buy his wife a hat 'twas in his eye I had well desire to cry, but all I did was sadly stare and soon I saw him enter there a victim of the modiste's snare.

Alas, I knew it was too late to change that poor wife's hateful fate and so I left with a quickened gait.

Oh, why will husbands do this thing?
The hearts of helpless wives they wring
when hats they home-ward haste to bring.
I'm sure the hat selecting call, in spring or summer,
winter fall has sounded in the lives of all.
It's time we women took a stand and clubbed together in a band to stop this outrage through the land.
I think we should all come out flat and let them know just where we're at against the husband-hand-picked hat.

Let me haste to qualify. It's only when they go and buy a hat alone and on the sly that women have husbands buy. It's quite all right when wife's nigh, to catch the sales-girls' knowing eye.

I love to have my husband go with me when shopping for chapeaux. He wants to buy each one we see that is becoming quite to me and so I get not one but three.

And now the bright thought comes to me, we'll solve the thing this way, you see, and turn our grief right into sales. As soon as women get the vote I hope they'll make a little note of this hat matter that I wrote, and pass a law when husbands feel the urge of hat selection steal through all their being, head to heel, that they be not allowed to go unchaperoned to spend their dough and buy a hat that's beauty's lot. Accompanied by his wife must each man on a hat buying spree, or subject to the laws he'll be. Two years imprisonment or fine in silver dollars five or nine if he is found with fell design alone in any hat shop smart about to buy a work of art that's sure to break his poor wife's heart.

But if this scheme of mine falls through and as author will not do, why here's another, simpler too. 'Twill cure him, I am sure of that, if we fast-give him tit for tat and go and pick him out a hat.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25.—Exemption boards here today are considering the request of four railroads for a blanket exemption of their employees on industrial grounds. Made from the White Meat of the Cocoanut
Churned With Fresh Milk

THESE are the ingredients used in the churning of this new, delicious spread for bread. This we are glad to publish. There are no secrets about Troco. We must label Troco as Oleomargarine, because no new laws have yet been made since Troco was discovered.

We use no oleo oil, no hog fats, no cotton-seed oil—common ingredients used in Oleomargarine. Simply the wholesome white meat of the cocoanut and pure milk.

Troco is a nut-fat butter—therefore purely vegetable. It is highly nutritious. Like ordinary butter, Troco is an energy or fuel food, but far cheaper.

A Nut-Made Butter at the Price of Fat-Made Oleomargarine

Please do not confuse Troco with common oleomargarine made from hog and cattle oils or cotton seed oil.

The use of the white meat of the cocoanut in butter-making is a recent European discovery.

Like Creamery butter, it comes to the table a rich golden color.

Capsules, containing exactly the same vegetable coloring used in creamery butter, are included in each package. The coloring process is simple.

A Great Delicacy
Fresh, crisp Troco is a most natural food—pure, appetizing, easier to digest—not distinguishable from good creamery butter. And far more inviting than fatty oleomargarine.

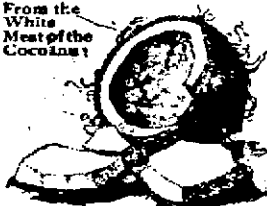

Troco fats—pure nut fats—possess high fuel value, needed for bodily energy. And Troco helps to build and repair bone and tissue.

Your whole family will enjoy Troco-cord Bread. It is good for them. And it saves you much.

Try This Test
Just to prove to yourself the pleasing flavor of Troco—serve it to your family for a week before telling them.

It is the same golden color, because we supply the same coloring used in creamery butter.

Note their comments. Then tell them all about Troco and ask them if they want to give it up. In these days of high costs, tell them how much is saved, too.

Cook With Troco

Troco is fine for cooking. It is excellent for shortening. The results are the same as if butter were used.

Try Troco in baking bread. On griddle cakes. For toast. Whenever you use butter. And use all you want—remember its comparative cheapness.

All who eat at your table will be delighted.

Much Cheaper

Troco is cheaper than butter—it costs no more than oleomargarine. As for purity—you know how nature protects the white meat of the cocoanut with a thick, hard shell. No need for a tuberculin test.

In a spotless creamery, which is approved by Government officials, Troco is churned under ideal conditions. No product could be made under greater care. Use plenty of appetizing Troco—fresh and crisp—and note how much you save.

Begin Now

Order a pound or two of Troco today. Your dealer has it—or can get it easily. Put Troco to a competitive test. Both your palate and your pocket book will decide in favor of Troco. If you are not pleased, your money back.

TEXT—Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit.—Psalm 51:12

This is one of the best-known and most highly praised Psalms of David, which one has called, "the mold or experience of a sinner's soul who comes back to God in full communion and service."

David, it must be remembered, was a man at one time in full communion with God, even though he so greatly sinned, as this Psalm indicates. Through a sudden and strong temptation he committed the gross sin of adultery, and then even tried to cover over some of the effects of it by being necessary to the sin of murder. Nevertheless, because he did really know God, his conviction of sin in the premises nearly broke his heart. His cry of repentance and appeal for mercy are recorded in this Psalm, whose wall of sorrow and subsequent shout of joy have been heard through all the ages bringing instruction and comfort to many another sinning sinner.

It is for this reason so instructive for us to observe how David returned to God. First of all, he clearly and definitely judged his own sin before God. This is expressed in the first six verses of the Psalm where he cries out for mercy, acknowledging his guilt and pleading for a thorough cleansing from his iniquity.

Forgiveness and Cleansing.
In the next division of the Psalm we see forgiveness and cleansing accorded him and secured on his part by faith in the atoning blood. This is expressed in verses 7-10, in the symbolism of the hyssop, in the washing of his soul until it is whiter than snow, in the blotting out of his iniquity, and in the creation within him of a clean heart.

We now see the restored one filled with the Spirit of God, in verses 11-17. He is filled with the joy of salvation; he is filled with power to teach transgressors and convert sinners; he is filled with the spirit of service and with the spirit of worship as indicated in his overflowing praise, and the presentation to God of the sacrifice of a broken spirit and a contrite heart. Finally he is seen in fellowship with God and interested now, not so much in things concerning himself, as in the things that concern God. His cry is, "Do good in thy good pleasure unto Zion; build thou the walls of Jerusalem."

The Same Truth in the New Testament.
One finds all the more encouragement to urge this because the same truth, only put in another way, is set before us again in the New Testament. You will find it in the First Epistle of John, chapter I, verse 9, where, addressing Christian believers, he says, "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

Because a man is saved by God's grace through faith in Christ, i. e., because he is a true Christian believer, is not to say that he will never again commit a sin against God. It is indeed his privilege, through the power of God's spirit dwelling within him, to continually live a life of victory over sin, and yet, like David, he may fall.

Under such circumstances, what is he to do? Has he lost out again? Has he utterly fallen never to be restored any more? Has Christ's sacrifice forever lost its efficacy for him?

No, thank God, Christ, as his high priest in heaven, ever liveth to make intercession for him. And now, like David again, it is for him to judge his sin before God, for that is really the meaning of the word, "confess." Let him do this, and he will find God "faithful and just to forgive" him. "Faithful" to his promise that means, and "just" because Jesus Christ has paid the penalty of his sin.

"Merciful and Just."

That word "just" is full of strength and comfort for us. God is not only "merciful" in forgiving the man who comes to him through Christ, but he is "just" in doing so. He is "just" because that man's sins have already been atoned for on the cross, and it would be unjust to ignore that great fact and to cast the man away.

This is a lesson for Christian backsliders, and alas! there are many of them in the church. Some of them would gladly return to the father's house, but they are timid and fearful and so discouraged. But let them take heart again, for God loves and yearns over them. The story of the prodigal son in Luke 15 was meant for them. That which he did insure a loving welcome for him in his old home, and so let them follow his example as outlined in the language of Psalm 51 and I John 1:9. They also will be met in the same way, and know what it is to have the old joy of their salvation restored unto them, because by grace they will be cleansed from all unrighteousness.

Flower Hints.

Always pull the leaves off the stalks of flowers before putting them in water—those leaves which would be in the water, not those above it. And with flowers from any hard-stalked sort of shrub the bark should be peeled off as well as the leaves.

Golden Text: Jehovah is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and plenteous in mercy. Psalm CIII, 8.

REVIEW: THE GOODNESS AND SEVERITY OF GOD.

A prophet is much more than an automatic predictor of events to come, although that has been the average idea of the order of which, until late, it has been supposed Israel had a monopoly. The root word signifies "to boil over." It is expressive of the strongest emotion of which the human soul is capable. The Hebrew seer contemplating prevailing conditions and the inevitable conclusion of certain tendencies, became like a seething kettle that must find vent. Without fear or favor, indifferent to personal results, he spoke his mind. No guilty man whether king, priest or peasant escaped his condemnation. Such was Isaiah who stands at the very head of his order. A patriot, a superb artist in the use of words, an evangelical soul whose vision of God made the things of the spirit transcendently real to him whose sole purpose was to serve his people efficiently in the crisis of their history—such was Isaiah (Isaiah VI).

The history of Israel was checked with the black and white reigns of good and evil sovereigns. Little advantage comes from mulling over the depressing minutiae of cruel, wicked and selfish kings. Ahaz inherited the grins of two generations of pious anarchy. He threw them to the winds. In spite of the kindly warnings of Providence with the inveterateness of sin he ruined his country and himself. He was an idolater. He hated the pure ethics of theism. He loved the lasciviousness of the grove and high place. He prostituted the temple and its sacred furniture to his base ends. Nothing but disaster could be the outcome of such a course. Ahaz put Judah on the down grade and gave her repeated and strong shoves. It is significantly said in his obituary: "They brought him not in the sepulchre of the kings of Israel" (2 Chronicles XXVIII).

Hesekiah shines the brighter for having Ahaz as a foil. He feared nothing from his father, but dishonor and ruin. But at once he threw himself, his sovereignty, his fortune and all, under the wheel and checked Israel's descent to ruin. Recognizing a religious festival as an effective instrument, he reinstated the Passover, that most pictorial of the feasts. But before that he had made an end of all the emblems and vestiges of idolatry. His epitaph is in significant contrast to that of Ahaz. "After him there was none like him among the kings of Judah." "They buried him in the chiefest of the sepulchres of the sons of David and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honor at his death." (2 Chronicles XXX).

The portrait of an ancient warrior done in the black and ruined cities and the red of human blood is next unveiled in the sacred narrative. Sennacherib's superlative egotism is preserved in the inscription of a cylinder exhumed nearly a century ago. "As for himself (Hesekiah) I shut him up like a bird in a cage in his royal city of Jerusalem." Yet Hesekiah escaped just when the warrior thought him absolutely in his power. How? By prayer, a weapon unknown to Sennacherib (2 Kings XVIII).

... Daniel's abstinence had a religious motive as well as a physiological ground. The meat and wine he was asked to indulge in had been previously offered to idols. The spreading of these duties before him was part of a studied plan to break down his religious purpose. His name and attire had also been changed to bring about the same result. The king's purpose was thwarted by the constancy of a young man who was also an exile and captive (Daniel I).

Neuchadnezzar wished to celebrate his conquest of the world in a way to him, the conqueror of masses. To this end the image of Bel was set up and the captives commanded to join their captors in an act of worship. It was a cunning device of statesmanship looking toward uniformity of worship as a means of welding the heterogeneous elements. The recalcitrant Hebrew youths thwarted the world lord. It is the only currency in his literature of fidelity to conscience (Daniel III).

In this instance is the poor man's huckster. He is the vender of wares to the moneyless. He offers, not luxuries, but necessities without which, one perishes. Water, wine, milk, all one needs and all for nothing! Asking is the only currency in his market. Those who traffic in other marts spend money for something that looks like bread but has no nourishing power. (Isaiah LV).

In this case it is like king like people. The masses follow the monarch, Hesekiah to good, Manasseh to evil. As is the rule the pervert to the new faith outside those who were born to it. The relapse of the nation was so rapid and complete as to make one ask "how could it be?" "What had become of the reform of Hesekiah?" But no one familiar with the fate of Puritanism after the Restoration in England or the relapse from Savonarola in Florence, should be surprised (2 Chronicles XXXIII).

A white spot succeeds Manasseh's inky square on the checkerboard of Judah. A king who "did that which was right in the eyes of Jehovah" came to the throne in the person of Josiah. Not content with making dust of altars and images, he set about the repair of the temple. He was as thorough in one as in the other. His name shines like a star undimmed in the annals of his country (2 Chronicles XXXIV).

Long lost and forgotten. The "Book of the covenant" stating the terms of agreement between Jehovah and Israel, also called the "Book of the Law," announcing what God required of the people of the covenant.

Sept. 30, 1917. Psalm LXVII, 1-7. HOME WORK AMONG IMMIGRANTS.

This is no time for sleep-walking in the civic affairs of America, nor should attention be diverted by our foreign complications from the acute conditions which maintain at home. We have large alien and disaffected elements which must be genuinely fused with our American citizenry before we are rid of peril not to mention the progress that is so desirable and important. These heterogeneous and often retarded and defective elements are to be indoctrinated in Democracy, and that too, not by lectures and text books so much as by personal example and influence and friendly and informing conversation. Where concession which involve no principle can be made America should play the willow, but where fundamentals are at stake she should prove the oak. At all events, the kindly and fusing fire should be kept glowing under the American "melting pot."

"HUNS WITHIN OUR GATES"; ROOSEVELT ON GERMAN PRESS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 Radio, Wis., Sept. 28.—"Neo-conspirencies," Huns within the gates of America who are pretending disloyalty to the country's cause, and German-American who are preaching disloyalty to their anti-American propaganda were denounced by Theodore Roosevelt in a speech at the annual meeting of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. "The time has come," declared Colonel Roosevelt, "when we should insist that no man in this country who believes in 'Germanism' or any other national 'ism' except straight out unadulterated Americanism, should be allowed to stand in the way of the country to any other country that is willing to receive him. There isn't room any longer here for a 50-50 allegiance." "Fingerpointing the 'Hun' within our gates," said the one from whom we have the most to fear for he is the tool and ally of the Hun without," Colonel Roosevelt asserted. "Of these Huns within our gates those who do most mischief are the men who hold office, and the men who edit newspapers. These neo-conspirencies stand towards the loyal American of today exactly as the old copperheads stood towards Abraham Lincoln. Men like Senators La Follette and Stone and Congressman MacLennan occupy substantially the position which Vallandigham occupied in 1862. They denounce the war as 'Vallandighamism' and the cause of secession. They use the same high-sounding words that Vallandigham used. They demand peace as he demanded it. They now stir up the defense of his reputation of Germany as he in his day stirred up or defended the iniquity of slavery. They try to excite class hatred exactly as Vallandigham and his fellows sought the New York men against the draft. "Abraham Lincoln sent Vallandigham into the hostile lines. I wish that we could send to Germany the neo-conspirencies of today and get especially all these congressional and editorial copperheads who have taken the lead in directly or indirectly preaching disloyalty to our country while at war, and giving aid and comfort in this crisis to the public enemy." "Assuming that this country should not permit during the war any paper to be printed in German, Colonel Roosevelt added that there are plenty of papers printed in English whose utterances are at least as bad as those of the worst German-American papers. "Our government," he said, "has been recent in not dealing with all necessary severity with the strongest and most influential of these papers. It is a German-American newspaper as asserting that 'the problem of the German press is to save Germanism in the United States, Colonel Roosevelt said. "This shows that the man making it and the men defending it are not Americans and have no business longer to remain in America. They are German, they are alien here and are obviously near traitors. The time has come to make short shift of such men."

MEDICAL SERVICE

FACES HUGE TASK

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 Washington, Sept. 28.—Word to the Red Cross from the front today painted a picture of the fighting front. Endless lines of American soldiers, nurses and medical personnel were seen in the trenches. The experience of a base hospital staff organized under Dr. P. A. Besley of Chicago is typical, depicting the terrible strain and the heroic work of the medical service. Surgeons vainly endeavoring to bring the waves of wounded breaking on their operating tables work without food or rest until they collapse. "Dr. P. A. Besley has been operating all night long," he is seen in the morning and he is still operating," wrote a member of the staff. Dr. Besley recently cabled for nine additional surgeons and twenty-five Red Cross nurses to assist him. "Dr. Besley's hospital is located three miles from the ocean in a large camp under canvas. The civilians have all of their little camps in one location and the nurses have temporary huts. The staff have only one tent for their living quarters. The Red Cross is sending a cargo of lumber abroad to construct permanent quarters for these hospitals before winter sets in. Dr. Besley said in one of his letters. "The English Tommy is certainly a great character. He never complains, no matter what happens to him, and the nurses find it difficult to get him to say what he really needs. He is always cheerful and contented, and loves to tell what the British did to the Boches at Vimy Ridge. The simple, democratic manners of the American doctors please the patients and seem to cheer the wounded and tired soldiers. Allied officers visit the camp every day and praise highly the work of our men. A recent cable said: "The Chicago unit at present is caring for more wounded and sick than any other American unit in France. The Boston unit has only a few hundred fewer cases. The doctors and enlisted men in both units have been working steadily and without much sleep, because there are not enough of them to divide the work by shifts and at the same time give the wounded prompt attention. The orderlies seem tired but determined."

 "My dear," said the host to his wife as he started to carve the leg of lamb, "can't you give Mrs. Brown anything better than that cold meat?" "Oh," cried Mrs. Brown, "that's all right, so long as it's cold leg and not cold shoulder."—Christian Herald.

POLICE BRING OUT ADDED EVIDENCE OF BIG GERMAN PLOTS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 New York, Sept. 28.—Following up their sensational raids of last night, when more than 200 alien enemies and members of the German spy network were taken into custody, federal agents and New York city police today continued to round up "spotted men" in all parts of the city. It was stated authoritatively today that all the men arrested will be interned for the duration of the war.
 In their raids the authorities have obtained a mass of evidence showing systematic German plotting through-out Greater New York.
 Papers, blueprints and maps, for the greater part written in German, were seized. Many boxes of machinery being manufactured in New York for the government and quantities of enemy compound that would quickly destroy machinery, rendering useless the works of army engines, were found in the Germans' quarters and were seized.
 In the arrest of enemy aliens in Brooklyn the police obtained married and single statistics of every war material plant in the metropolitan district, of every shipyard, of the navy yard, of every armory and of every fort about New York harbor.
 Evidence of recent German intrigue in New York, including the identity of certain men who have held regular meetings to discuss their plots, also has been obtained.
 Included in those held in jail are members of the home defense league, workers in munitions plants and I. W. W. workers.
 A hungry cat was sent out from police headquarters today for traitorous and German documents, which will be examined as rapidly as possible for evidence of plots. Mechanics will be put to work on the blueprints and other plans to determine their significance.
 Despite the caution with which the police planned the raids and carried them out, many had made good their escape. This fact leads the police to believe they have a well established line of communication for such emergencies.
 Federal agents and detectives "covered" every munitions plant in New York today in the hope of picking up those who evaded the drag net last night and early today.

HOME WINE MAKERS MUST REPORT TO U. S.

New Ruling By Internal Revenue Office Will Bring Consternation To Many.

Uncle Sam does not intend to permit even the makers of home made wines to escape the drag net of the internal revenue collectors and has just issued a new order to the effect. Home wine makers must report what they are doing to the government. An order has been issued by the collector of internal revenue that anyone manufacturing wine for home consumption, no matter what amount, must notify the collector's office.

While the total amount of home-made wine may not be large still it was bound to increase with the step-page of whiskey manufacture and doubtless this is the reason for the new order. However, many who have already pressed out the quantities of wild grapes and home grown varieties have laid in a supply of plump and elderberry, currant and cherry wines against a long hard dry spell will be much annoyed if the ruling is made imperative.
